Case study

Andrew decided to add a swimming pool to his French property to increase its value.

He hired a French company to make the changes to his property and needed to transfer funds from the UK to pay for their services.

Our solution

After being introduced to TorFX Andrew created an account the same day. He found the online service and app really convenient for checking live exchange rates on the go.

When it came to paying his contractors, Andrew was able to send them funds in just a couple of taps. He was really pleased with the exchange rate he secured and didn't have to pay transfer fees.
